PUNISHMENT OF OUTLAW BAND IS SURE, CARRANZA WIRES CAPITAL

First Chief Telegraphs Ambassador at Washington That Pursuit Has Been Undertaken and Will Be Thorough.

STONE GATHERS DATA TO DEFEND POLICIES

Though Original War Man in Senate, Chairman of Foreign Relations Committee Now Is for Peace.

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire) Washington, Jan. 14.—General Carranza today telegraphed his ambassador as follows from his headquarters at Queretaro:

"The murderous attack on the passenger train near Chihuahua City was made by the only remaining band of outlaws. This band is being pursued by my troops with a view to insuring its capture, whereupon punishment, which their crime deserves, will be applied to every guilty participant. Troops of the constitutional government have been ordered to establish patrols from end to end of the railroad line in order to prepare against similar outrages."

General Carranza's dispatch was the first direct assurance that he will comply with the urgent representations of the United States government. Upon the success of the steps he takes the next move in the Mexican situation seems to depend.

After Chairman Stone or the senate foreign relations committee had discussed the situation with the president he returned to the senate chamber and again expressed the view that the United States should not move toward armed intervention until the Carranza government had demonstrated whether it was capable of controlling the country.

Senator Works, Republican, introduced a resolution proposing armed intervention and declared that senators should share with the president the responsibility of whatever it may be.

State department dispatches added virtually nothing new to the situation in Mexico.

Chairman Stone, of the senate foreign relations committee, conferred on the Mexican situation early today with President Wilson. He said he was gathering information of the administration's attitude with which to meet attacks in the senate.

Senator Stone said after his conference that he did not expect American troops would be sent into Mexico unless there were further developments to force him. He considered that the Villa element, enraged by the recognition of Carranza, were determined to attack Americans to avert intervention. He plainly indicated that the administration will look to Carranza to control the situation and punish the bandits.

Senator Stone said there was no present intention of calling a meeting of the foreign relations committee to consider the pending resolutions proposing interference in Mexico. White House officials indicated that the resolution of Senator Lewis of Illinois, the Democratic whip, was introduced without their knowledge.

"It would be monstrous for the United States to go to war in Mexico at such a time as this," declared Senator Stone after his return to the capitol. "I was the original war man in the senate when there was no organized government recognized by this country. But now we have recognized a government and it would be absurd to rush in without giving that government a chance to suppress and punish the bandit bands that have usurped American citizens."

We know that these bandits are seeking blood of Americans for revenge. I think that Americans who venture into such places and Americans who venture forth on belligerent ships into war zones are committing a crime against the government whose protection they seek. Of course we must try to protect them. We have a technical legal right to go into such dangerous places, but they should not do it if possible to avoid it and that embarrass the United States.

I am not convinced that it will not be necessary to go into Mexico, but this is an absurd time to talk of war."

General Carranza's ambassador here today suggested to his government that all Americans in dangerous districts be compelled to come into unoccupied places where Carranza's troops can protect them.

Secretary Lansing asked Mr. Arredondo to request General Carranza to provide at once trains and guards for the removal of Americans who wished to leave endangered localities.

Mr. Arredondo forwarded the request with his endorsement and his own suggestion that Americans in danger be compelled to go into a

LANSING AGAIN URGES FOREIGNERS TO LEAVE

Strong Representations Made Through Consuls; Groups of Miners and Cattlemen May Cross the Line.

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire) El Paso, Tex., Jan. 14.—General Francisco Villa, at Ruiz the first week of January, during which time Peter Keane, an Englishman, was murdered there, declared that he would kill any American traveling west of Chihuahua city, according to reliable information secured today. At the time Villa was supplying himself with meat.

Secretary of State Lansing has ordered the withdrawal by consular authorities of all Americans in Chihuahua and Durango states and their removal to well garrisoned centers along the main line of railways. From which points they can more readily reach the border should danger threaten them.

The movement toward the borders of groups of mining and cattlemen of border states was taken today to indicate that an attempt will be made to cross the international line, with or without the consent of the Carranza government.

The order of Secretary of State Lansing addressed to Consul Edwards of Juarez follows:

In view of recent occurrences in the state of Chihuahua and great danger from attack by bandits in the outlying mountain district of Chihuahua and Durango, the department reiterates its advice to all Americans to leave such districts for well garrisoned centers along the main line of railway from which points they can more readily reach the border should danger threaten them.

Commercial Club Arranging for Delegation to Attend Session of National Association January 29.

A joint session of the finance and advertising committees of the Commercial club will be held tonight to arrange for the sending of a delegation to El Paso to attend the meeting of the American National Livestock association, which begins in that city January 29. The delegation will go for the purpose of learning what El Paso does to entertain the cattlemen, observing methods in use there, that having entertained many stockmen's conventions and advertising the coming meeting of the Panhandle-Southwestern Cattlemen's association, which begins here March 9.

The delegation probably will go early and stay late. It is a pretty well assured fact that a delegation will be sent, the members to come before the meeting tonight being mainly the details of what shall be done in advertising, etc.

Plans so far call for the display of advertising matter in hotel lobbies, at the convention hall, badges, and other minor matters. There is no indication as yet of what ten citizens will be used to make the trip. It is possible, though not probable, that the delegation will be enlarged.

A safety zone if it be necessary to force them to do so.

No verdict had been reached early today in the jury that heard the evidence in the trial of the Monroe Publishing company of Aurora, Mo., and four of its officials, who were charged in federal court here with misuse of the Taguebill, which clearly declared in its dissatisfaction.

The other papers are either satisfied that more cannot be expected at the present time, or like the Zeitung und Kreise Zeitung, and one or two other papers of the extreme right faction, are of the opinion that the sentence goes too far.

CORRESPONDENCE TAKEN FROM VON PAPEN IS GIVEN TO U. S. EMBASSY

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire) London, Jan. 14.—Copies of correspondence seized from Captain Frank Von Papen, recalled German military attaché at Washington when he reached Fairmount on his way to Germany, have been turned over to the American embassy for transmission to the state department. They show that Captain Von Papen made frequent payments to persons charged with the responsibility to blow up munition works and bridges in the United States.

One entry shows that Captain Von Papen gave $700 to Werner Horn, who was convicted of blowing up a Canadian Pacific railway bridge at St. Croix, Maine. The day before this check was issued the German embassy paid $2,000 to the German consul at Seattle. In February of 1915 he sent $1,500 to the German consulate in that city.

Another check stub shows that about two weeks before the explosion in Seattle on May 26, 1915, Captain Von Papen sent $500 to the German consul at Seattle. In February of 1915 he sent $1,500 to the German consulate in that city.

EMPEROR'S ADDRESS IS NOT SATISFACTORY

None of Berlin Papers Comment Favorably on It and Several Are Openly Dissatisfied With Reforms Proposed

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire) London, Jan. 14.—(11:50 a.m.)—It is authoritatively announced today that the reported offensive of the Teutonic allies did not occur. The rumors that the attack had begun against the forces of the allies apparently originated in the activity of the French in blowing up the bridges connecting Scotland with the road over which the attackers would normally travel.

Bridges were destroyed by the French not only at Demirhisar, on the Struma near Zerres, but also at Kildin, south of Doiran. All the bridges destroyed were in Greek territory.

The rumors that Austria and Montenegro had suspended hostilities for the purpose of discussing arrangements whereby further wars of the Montenegrin soil should be stopped, may be based simply on the fact that the Austrian advance in Montenegro has become so slow that suspicion of a suspension of hostilities is naturally created.

Military critics, however, are of the opinion that Montenegro is now in such a position that some form of arrangement with her adversary has become imperative.

Speculation is rife as to the attitude which Italy has adopted with regard to the invasion of Montenegro by the Austrians which constitutes a grave menace to Italian interests. The fact that Italy's super fleet did not prevent any Austrian squadron from assisting in the reduction of Mount Lovcen, which dominates the harbor of Kotor, is being commented upon.

Though experts admit that there is not a sufficient basis of information from which to draw deductions in the matter, and they suggest that Italy's action in the present juncture should be awaited before judgment is passed, and that action they point out would naturally be kept secret as long as possible.

News of the developments in the military operations in Galicia and Bessarabia is waited with much interest here and it is observed that both sides are unusually reticent with regard to the operations. Austria usually sends out the best information on the military activities in that region, but beyond a general review of the Russian offensive movement she gives today but little light on the happenings on her eastern front.

The Austrian military authorities affirm that the sole result of the Russian offensive to date has been the pushing back of one Austria battalion for a few hundred yards.

WORKERS DISSATISFIED WITH BALLOT REFORMS

(By Evening Herald Leased Wire) Berlin (via London), Jan. 14.—The workers express dissatisfaction with that portion of the speech from the throne delivered yesterday at the opening of the Prussian diet which refers to the reform of the Prussian franchise. The other papers are guardedly in their comments, excepting the Tagesschau, which clearly declared in its dissatisfaction.

The sentence regarding franchise reform, says the Tagesschau, demands of the people "no reaching renunciation."

The other papers are either satisfied that more cannot be expected at the present time, or like the Zeitung und Kreise Zeitung, and one or two other papers of the extreme right faction, are of the opinion that the sentence goes too far.
